INTRODUCTION

What is a health and safety policy statement?

Your health and safety policy statement sets out how you manage health and safety in your organisation. It is a unique document that shows who does what; and when and how they do it.

This is an example of a policy statement that you can use, fill in and keep in your school. However, you do not have to use this document or format. You are free to record and store the information in any form you choose. This format gives you an idea of the kind of information you need to record.

Why do I need a health and safety policy statement?

The health and safety policy statement is your starting point in managing health and safety in the workplace. By law, (Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 section 2(3)) if you employ five or more people you must have a written health and safety policy. This contains your statement of general policy on health and safety at work and the organisation and arrangements for putting that policy into practice.

Writing a health and safety policy is more than just a legal requirement – it is your commitment to planning and managing health and safety. It is the key to achieving acceptable standards, reducing accidents and cases of work-related ill health and it shows your employees that you care for their health and safety.

Who should do what?

The responsibility for health and safety rests with the Local Education Authority, the Head Teacher and the Governing Body.

However, many day-to-day tasks may be delegated. Your statement should show clearly how these tasks are allocated, but remember that there is still ultimate responsibility on the Governors and Head Teacher.

Governors and Head Teachers should consult your employees (through safety representatives, if you have any) about the policy statement. Everyone should be able to see from the policy statement exactly who is responsible for different things, such as advice, reporting an accident, and first aid.

When and how should they do it?

Your policy statement should describe your arrangements, i.e. the systems and procedures you have in place for ensuring employees' health and safety.

You may wish to refer to other documents e.g. schools' rules, safety checklists, LEA Circulars, particularly LEA 88 (Education Services Health and Safety Policy) – revision due out shortly, training programmes, emergency instructions, etc. All employees may not need to see the other documents, but they must see the policy statement itself.

How often do I need to revise the policy statement?

It should be reviewed and possibly revised in the light of experience, or because of operational or organisational changes. It is useful to review the policy regularly (e.g. annually).

Do I have to do anything else?

Yes, you have other legal duties under other legislation. In particular, under the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999, you have to assess the risks arising from your work activities and record the significant findings. You also have to record your arrangements for health and safety. There will also be other specific legislation that will apply. You may wish to refer to LEA Circular 88 and others for this information.

Remember: What you write into the policy has to be put into practice. The true test of a health and safety policy is the actual conditions in the workplace, not how well the statement is written.

How to use this guidance

This guidance is split into three parts. It contains a statement of general policy based on your legal duties under the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974. Then you can record your organisational responsibilities and your arrangements to ensure the health and safety of your employees. Notes are included alongside each section to help you. Some useful publications are listed in the notes and at the end of this guidance.
